'Desperate' Housewife Happily Married

Marcia Cross tied the knot on Saturday

In Hollywood, love is always floating in the air. But few are the couples that actually make it to the altar to 'take each other for better and for worse', as most of them fail and break up before taking such a serious commitment.

According to 'Entertainment Tonight', Marcia Cross, the fiery red-headed from popular TV series 'Desperate Housewives' and stockbroker Tom Mahoney walked down the aisle this weekend in San Gabriel, California.

The ceremony, held at the Church of Our Savior Episcopal Parish, was very private and simple, was attended by only 200 guests of the closest friends and family.

Co-stars Eva Longoria and Felicity Huffman were also present to wish their best to the newlyweds.

Marcia and Tom met last year in January and got engaged in August. This is the first marriage for both groom and bride.
