Andy Roddick Dates Maria Sharapova and Mandy Moore at the Same Time

The tennis player was seen with both women during the past few weeks

While outside the tennis court, Andy Roddick's personal life is receiving a great deal of attention from the media. And that's because he is dating two of the most beautiful women inside sports & showbiz at the same time. One of them is his former girlfriend, Mandy Moore, and the other is arguably the most beautiful female tennis player in the WTA, Russian Maria Sharapova. And all these rumors about his personal life started when the player took a break from tennis. Since he has been going through some rough times with the back & stomach injuries in the past few months, Andy has more time to go out. And he apparently dated both women. The media is still trying to figure him out, since he is still officially single. According to "People" magazine, Andy had lunch with his former girlfriend, Mandy, a few days ago. While enjoying their meal, it seems that the Hollywood actress & singer never took her eyes off him. Even if the couple broke up a few years ago, the two are believed to have maintained a close relationship ever since. Still, the American tabloids are not certain if the two are back together or not. In the meantime, some New York tabloids launched the rumor that Andy is dating Wimbledon winner Maria Sharapova. Considered one of the most beautiful sportswomen on the planet and a true inheritor of Anna Kournikova's charm on the tennis court, Sharapova was believed to have started a relationship with the American playboy later last year. The two tennis players came as a couple at one of New York's high life parties. A friend of the two allegedly told the media that Roddick and Sharapova are a couple for some time now. Neither of the two confirmed it, though, leaving the tabloids to keep on guessing.
