Angelina Jolie Removes Billy Bob Tattoo

"Mrs. Smith" doesn't want to have her ex-husband's name on her arm anymore

The screen beauty is said to have begun painful laser treatment to have the famous Billy Bob body art, which features a Chinese dragon, removed from her left arm. Angelina Jolie is ready to put her relationship with Thornton behind her. "Mrs. Smith", who is rumored to have been romancing Brad Pitt since spring, was recently spotted with a faded tattoo, which proves she is half-way through the treatment. Angelina is well-known for her passion for the body art. The famous actress has eleven tattoos, including a large Asian tiger on her back and a large black cross on her left hip. She is rumored to be planning to have the names of her two children tattooed on her back, as well. Jolie wants to show her love to her four-year-old Cambodian son Maddox and new Ethiopian daughter Zahara. The 30-year-old star insisted though she would never have a lover's name etched onto her body. "I'll never be stupid enough to have a man's name tattooed on me again", she confessed.
