Brad Pitt And Jennifer Aniston's Wedding Picture Unwanted

Apparently, neither Pitt nor Aniston wanted to keep the photo, because it was abandoned at the residence. The estate agent that is taking care of the house confessed he attempted to return it to either one of the pair, but they weren't interested in keeping it. A source told the Daily Mirror: "Neither Brad nor Jen want it. It's too heartbreaking for them and Angelina wouldn't be too thrilled if Brad put it up in his Malibu pad."
