Angelina and Brad have already married once on the set of "Mr. and Mrs. Smith"

Brangelina Signs A Prenup, Do I Hear Wedding bells?

The prenuptial agreement is rumored to be worth $220 million

Just last Saturday, the world witnessed the wedding of the year when desperate housewife Eva Longoria married the San Antonio Spurs point guard Tony Parker in Paris, France. They are young, beautiful, famous and their wedding was an extravaganza worth several million dollars. But they are about to get outclassed. Folks, you're probably aware of Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie being together (with a kid and all) without being married. That situation is bound to change sooner or later, and if the recent speculations (from National Enquirer) turn out to be correct, it might be sooner rather than later. That is because Brad and Angelina are preparing for their divorce, which is a clear sign of them wanting to get married. More to the point, the two lovebirds are rumored to have signed a prenuptial agreement worth no less than $220 million. Now the last time I checked, people sign prenups just before they get married, so I think I'm seeing a pattern here. The rumors do not end there. The prenuptial agreement bit may have dropped just now, but Brangelina's wedding has been the talk of the town for months now. Not only that, it seems that they have another baby in the works. And since we're talking about Angelina Jolie, we're not sure if she's going to have that baby the old fashion way, or the "pick an orphan baby from a Third World country"-way. As for their official position on the subject, Brad and Angelina have dismissed these rumors as pure speculation from the media. Angelina Jolie was clear to deny everything at the "Ocean's 13" premiere. According to Angie, their main focus is family, seeing how they've both been married before and it did not work. The fact of the matter is that Angelina has a little more experience than Brad on this subject, having divorced twice. When it comes to children, Angelina has already expressed her position. A while back she admitted that she wants to have 14 toddlers, but she did not say anything about how she plans on getting them. And with a rate of one adoption per year, give or take one or two of her own pregnancies, she should get the job done before she hits 50.
