

14 July 2006

By: Elena Gorgan, Entertainment News Editor

Britney Looks Better Naked...

As airbrushed as she is

This is one of the pictures from that 'Harper's Bazaar' Magazine book and that wasn't seen until recently (smaller image). And, with the risk of repeating ourselves, we say that she looks absolutely good. Well, actually, that's not to her credit; it just goes to show what modern techniques can do to make a body ravaged by inactivity and over-indulgence in whims look positively beautiful. We're not going to say anything mean about her second pregnancy or the way she looks carrying the child. But we are going to mention the fact that we'd rather see her brunette, naked and pregnant than blonde, pregnant and with clothes on. 'Cause in real life (we all know, we've seen her) she is nothing but a fatso with a bad case of make-up and split hair ends, a gum-chewing, teary-eyed, inadequate, fallen pop star. And this airbrushed picture makes her appear so hot...Enough about the past. In conclusion, we congratulate the 'artists' (they must be, or else they couldn't have accomplished such an impossible mission) that made the pregnant Britney look almost as hot as Demi Moore.