Get the X-ray scopes

Cabela's Outdoor Adventures 2006 is a hunting and fishing video game that was produced by Sand Grain Productions and released by Activision Value Publishing for the Playstation 2 console, for the Xbox and the PC. The title was launched in 2006 and is classed as a hunting and fishing simulation game played from a first person perspective. There are some role playing and third person view elements. The game allows the player to explore remote places and well known outdoor areas like British Columbia, Colorado, New Mexico and the rest of North America. You can use various means of transport to get to the hunt zones. The structure of the game makes it so that the player begins all the areas and all the missions in an outpost. This allows you to customize the hunters gear using thousands of real world pieces of equipment so that you are better prepared to confront the challenges ahead. There are various pieces of trophy game that you can pursue and there are pieces of gear that need to be unlocked. The game is a hunter's dream because it also features real video of all the creatures you can hunt to give you a better idea of what you are looking for and to provide you with some information on your kills. The new game is mostly a graphical update to the other fishing and hunting games that were released under the Cabela trade mark, with little apparent changes made to the gameplay mechanics. UNLOCKABLES
