

2 February 2007

By: Silviu Stahie

Caesar 3 - Cheats and Hints

Building the largest empire that ever existed

Caesar 3 is not the first city builder (and the titles strengthen this statement) but it was the first to provide the necessary means for building and ruling over the Roman cities. The gameplay was clear for everyone and even if most players burned the city to the ground numerous times or watched as it crumbled over and over again, Caesar 3 stayed with us and proved a worthy judge for all the games in this special genre.

Cheats: Press the Right Mouse Button on a well. Press [Alt] + K, then enter one of the following codes to activate the corresponding cheat function. Note: Some versions of the game require [Ctrl] to be pressed in addition to [Alt].

More money, if currently less than 5000 denari - Alt + C
Promotes you and allows you to play the next map - Alt-V
Spawns army – Alt-K

Free items: This procedure involves editing a game file; create a backup copy of the file before proceeding. Use a text editor to edit the "c3_model" file in the game directory. Change the following section to how it appears below. Basically, take the first number in the '{ }' 0 to make everything free. If you make the number a negative value, you will get money when you buy it. For example, if you make a hospital cost -500, you will get 500 Denari when you place one in the selected location.

Quick soldiers: Place a barrack in a location so it is not connected to roads, and thus not accessible to workers. Quickly place additional barracks in similar locations to quickly produce soldiers.

Get rid of natives: Place walls around the native meeting huts. The natives will freeze and you can build on their land freely.

Building recommendation: Try building all your Prefectures and Engineer Posts first. When people arrive in your city, they will automatically work there and you will already have security.

Mystery goods: If a cart pusher gets to a warehouse to export some goods when there are none, he will still get a load and they will pay for it.