

19 September 2005

By: Alex Andreescu, Mac Editor

Dell DJ Ditty, Another iPod Killer

At 1,29 ounces

Dell unveiled a new competitor of the iconic iPod: Dell DJ Ditty. The new player is slim and trim and at 1.29 ounces is light enough for heavy workouts or runs. With a 512 MB capacity, Dell DJ Ditty can store up to 220 songs in MP3 or WMA formats. The player has also an integrated FM tuner, easy to read 26x11mm LCD screen and it includes earbuds, lanyard, and black&blue USB Cap. Dell DJ Ditty has 14-hour 300mAh rechargeable battery, fully recharged over the USB 2.0 interface in 2.5 hours and is compatible with Napster to Go and Audible. The music files can be tweaked with 5 equalizer presets and as software Dell Dj Ditty includes Music Match Jukebox version 10.1. The player is Windows XP compatible and as like all Dell players the Ditty is based on a Creative counterpart, this one being the Creative FX120. The prices for Dell DJ Ditty are starting at $99. This week, Softpedia would like to know your opinion on gaming consoles. What is your favorite console you either own or you are planning to buy? Are you an Xbox fan or a Playstation fan? Has Xbox360 convinced you it's time to buy one? Or you'll wait for the PS3? Express your opinion here.