

15 November 2005

By: Simona Gherman, Entertainment Editor

Diana Ross and Jon Voight In Love

The singer has found true love

Diana Ross is dating Jon Voight. The couple has arrived holding hands at the recent Hollywood tribute to Ross' 1972 movie "Lady Sings The Blues". The man 'responsible' for their love is Motown founder Berry Gordy, who introduced them to each other. After successfully solving her alcohol and depression problems, it was time for Diana to find her man. As a source said for femalefirst.co.uk, "Diana has been to hell and back over her booze problems and DUI (drink-driving) arrest and he (Gordy) kept telling her that since she beat her demons and emerged from the depths of depression, all she needed now was love". "And I'll be damned if he didn't go out and find the perfect man for her himself." The ceremony was also an occasion for John to meet Diana's children for the first time. "Jon's one of us", one of Diana's daughters reportedly said when the actor was introduced to the family. Everybody loves him but his own daughter, Angelina Jolie. He had left her and her mother when Angelina was only one year old.