

15 July 2005

By:

Drew Barrymore Wants To Direct

Beautiful actress Drew Barrymore declared recently that she's thinking of becoming a movie director

Beautiful actress Drew Barrymore declared recently that she's thinking of becoming a movie director after she will be old and not looking great. The actress, 33, said she's planning to take the helm of her production company Flower Films when she will consider herself old enough for this business. She says: "If my boobs fall down to the floor and it all starts sagging and is hideous and gross and I shouldn't be in front of a camera, I love producing and I'd love to direct. So I'll just go behind the camera." Drew Blythe Barrymore, born February 22, 1975 in Culver City, California debuted as a child actor, when she co-starred in the 1982 Steven Spielberg film E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial. At the age of 7, on November 20, 1982, Barrymore became the youngest ever guest host of the weekly TV program Saturday Night Live. Her filmography includes Firestarter, Poison Ivy (1992), Bad Girls (1994), Batman Forever (1995), Everyone Says I Love You (1996), Charlie's Angels (2000), Confessions of a Dangerous Mind (2002), and Charlie's Angels: Full Throttle (2003). Drew is currently filming for Lucky You and Curious George (2006)