Madden NFL 09
EA Mobile

EA Sports Nascar 09, Madden NFL 09 and NCAA Football 09 Now Available

In North America only

Not long after unveiling no less than four upcoming games based on Eidos titles, EA Mobile has announced the availability of three other new mobile games, created for sports and racing fans: Madden NFL 09, NCAA Football 09 and EA Sports Nascar 09.

The new titles are released only in North America (for now), and are part of EA Mobile's 2008 fall line-up of mobile games, which is at least as good as Disney's (presented a few weeks ago).

The latest from the famous Madden NFL franchise, Madden NFL 09 is, of course, a mobile game that will bring the fascinating universe of the National Football League to your handset. Featuring New York Giants' star player Michael Strahan on the cover, Madden NFL 09 offers all the 32 NFL teams, a new Instant Impact Play function for a unique pause-n-play control, a Field Vision Passing function, and two game modes - Play Now and Season.

NCAA Football 09 is another game that brings sports thrills on mobile phones, but this one is about college football (since it has to do with the National Collegiate Athletic Association). Gamers will have to play by real NCAA rules, in a season of 7 or 12 games. 32 teams are available, so that you'll get to "live" all the big college rivalries, including UCLA vs. USC, Michigan vs. Ohio State and Alabama vs. Auburn.

Obviously targeted at racing fans, EA Sports Nascar 09 comes with no less than 19 famous drivers (like Jeff Gordon and Dale Earnhardt Jr.). There are 12 "authentic tracks" to race on, all of which require you to give it your best in order to complete all the 26 events as a champ. Dynamic perspectives, realistic effects and 3D graphics are included, so gamers into this kind of adventures should not miss the new Nascar 09.

"EA's sports titles are some of our most popular games across all platforms, including mobile. Players will notice the great detail we've put into the games to make them as authentic as possible, including the use of motion capture technology for realistic movements and up-to-the-minute commentary by well-known sportscasters," declared Vice President of Publishing for EA Mobile, Adam Sussman.
