Fans of Steven Spielberg's latest movie entitled Eagle Eye will be thrilled to find out that they have a mobile game based on the action thriller. Developed by Magmic Games, after licensing the title from Paramount Digital Entertainment, Eagle Eye is available as of now, but only for Windows Mobile and BlackBerry.

The new game is an action title that features puzzle elements, offering players the chance to experience a unique, fast-paced adventure. You'll get to play with the film's main characters, each with specific skills. During the game, you can switch between the characters, this allowing you to solve puzzles and defeat enemies more easily.

Talking about the mobile release of Eagle Eye, Nicholas Reichenbach, Executive Vice President of Publishing for Magmic Games, declared, "It is unique for a mobile device to play a critical role in the movie's storyline, and we are delighted to work with Paramount Digital Entertainment to extend the Eagle Eye experience into the hands of the movie's fans worldwide".

Sandi Isaacs, Senior Vice President, Interactive, Paramount Digital Entertainment, added, "Since its inception, Paramount Digital Entertainment has been focused on creating quality, interactive entertainment. The Eagle Eye mobile game is our latest effort to demonstrate that. Magmic is a terrific developer and publisher and we are excited to work with them to launch the Eagle Eye mobile game".

Eagle Eye the mobile game costs 6.99 USD and can be bought from Magmic's official website, accessible at this address.

Produced by the legendary Steven Spielberg and directed by DJ Caruso, Eagle Eye the movie has gathered actors like Shia LaBeouf, Michelle Monaghan, Billy Bob Thornton, Rosario Dawson, Michael Chiklis, Ethan Embry and Anthony Mackie. The movie's premiere took place on September 25 in Australia and September 26 in North America. Europe will get to enjoy the film starting October 17.
