The Fairly OddParents: Breakin' Da Rules is a video game released for the Nintendo GameCube, Sony PlayStation 2, Xbox and the PC in 2003. It is based on the famous Nickelodeon cartoon, Fairly OddParents. It was developed by THQ. It's sequel, The Fairly OddParents: Shadow Showdown is on Gamecube and PS2. Once again, Timmy Turner's mother and father have gone on a vacation and left Timmy with the evil babysitter Vicky. When Timmy tries to make a wish, his fairy godparents Cosmo and Wanda tell him that it's against "Da Rules".

Outraged, Timmy wishes he didn't have to follow the rules. So, Cosmo destroys the book. Vicky arrives, and gains possession of Da Rules. She wishes Timmy was still sleeping and since she has possession of a fairy item, her wish is granted. Timmy, Cosmo and Wanda go to Fairy Court and are accused of destroying Da Rules. Jorgen Von Strangle gives the three of them 49 and a half hours to find the missing pages of Da Rules.

Timmy must navigate through ten levels and find the pages before Vicky's wishes become too extreme! The PC version features a different concept. Here, Juandissimo Magnifico tricks Timmy into wishing the book destroyed so that Cosmo and Wanda will get in trouble for it. The level The Vicky Virus contains many references to video games. For example, Vicky takes the form of a giant brain, possibly a reference to the Mother Brain from Metroid. The Vicky Virus also says, "When I'm done with you, I'll turn you into... a hedgehog!" This is a reference to the SEGA character Sonic the Hedgehog.
