Get Ready for Exodus from the Earth

Strategy First decided it should bring you some FPS action

If you wanted to explore the space and you were unhappy that neither NASA gives you the job, nor other game developers offer you viable solutions, you should be very happy to find out that Strategy First is preparing Exodus from the Earth and it is going to put you in charge! Of course, this is not exactly what you could expect from a company that calls itself "Strategy First"... it is a first person shooter (FPS) game! But it should be OK. So, the story in Exodus from the Earth presents a dying planet Earth - with everything happening much faster than it was expected, in 2016. There is only one option left for mankind to survive: a new Earth-like planet has to be found and people have to adapt to extraterrestrial life. But things are never that easy. With the Sun growing in size and starting to burn everything on Earth, a newly born corporation called A.X produced a vaccine which allows humans to survive in any environment. But when the scientists find the planet that's similar to Earth, the financial future of the corporation is being threatened. You will take the role of secret CIA agent Agent, Francis Rixon, who has to infiltrate A.X. And find out everything about them and their plans. "Exodus from the Earth is a next generation title that will create an exhilarating alternative in the first person shooter genre," said Emanuel Wall, Business Development Manager, Strategy First. "We are extremely excited to bring this title to gamers world wide." The game is being developed by Parallax Arts Studio and is scheduled for a PC release this fall. It will bring a varied arsenal to the players, as well as epic locations on two planets, unpredictable story filled with different types of enemies to battle against and many locations to explore.
