The 36-year-old singer is expecting

Pop star Gwen Stefani is expecting her first child, according to Us Weekly. The 36-year-old singer nominated for five Grammy Awards including album of the year for "Love.Angel.Music.Baby" married Gavin Rossdale, 38, three years ago. The baby is to be born in June, according to the magazine that quotes Rossdale's father, Douglas, as saying: "We are delighted". The singer's mum, Patti, also confirmed her daughter's pregnancy. Stefani's husband has another child from his relationship with fashion designer Pearl Lowe, a 16-year-old daughter, Daisy Lowe. Rossdale had to take a DNA test in 2004 in order to establish whether he was the father. Gavin Rossdale is the frontman of rock band Bush, best known for the popular album released in 1994, "Sixteen Stone". Their latest albums include "Golden State" (2001) and a greatest hits CD in November this year. As for Gwen, the lead singer of No Doubt, she has already received praise and awards for her first solo album, "Love.Angel.Music.Baby."
