

13 August 2005

By: Entertainment News Staff, -

Jane Seymour to Play Another TV Doctor

The sexy lady from "Wedding Crashers" has recently signed on to play a TV doctor in a new comedy for WB, according to Associated Press.

British actress Jane Seymour, famous for her part in the '90s TV series, "Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman", will star in the WB's new comedy Modern Men. The Wedding Crashers star will play Dr. Stangl, a life coach who helps three men in their 20s at different stages in their romantic lives. "Dr. Stangl is full of beneficial, yet biting, advice the guys try to apply in their everyday situations to varying degrees of success," the network said in a statement Thursday, according to Associated Press. Josh Braaten, Max Greenfield, Eric Lively, Marla Sokoloff and George Wendt will also star in the "Modern Man" TV series, which is set to debut in midseason.