Beautiful Jessica Alba criticized Tom Cruise and Katie Holmes's relationship and their needs to talk about it with every opportunity they gets. Alba thinks it's not necessary to turn their romantic relation into a media event.

The "Fantastic Four" actress, whom Tom Cruise is said to have had his eye on before he felt in love with Holmes, confessed she doesn't feel the need to talk about her relationships.

"I'm madly in love with Cash but I don't feel the need to talk about it," she told The Mirror, talking about her relationship with Warren.

"I don't want to comment on Tom's relationship with Katie... But, I'm a private person and I don't feel you should talk about your private life. I think it's best to keep this sort of thing to yourself," she told the newspaper. In the past, Jessica dated Michael Weatherly and Mark Wahlberg

Alba also confessed that she finds it difficult to have time to herself in LA, because locals fear she's lonely, and constantly pester her out of pity. "There are times when I want nothing more than to be alone. And, far from understanding that, people seem to find it alarming.

Out in LA, it bugs me that it's almost impossible to dine out alone. Everyone feels bad for you. For some reason, waiters, chefs, even strangers feel the need to come and talk to you. They ask, 'How's the food? Did someone not show up?'" , Alba added.
