Jordan's Last Salute to Her Boobs

The former glamor model is shrinking away before our very eyes

Glowing orange skin, oversize boobs, blond weave and a smile that seemed to scream "look at me, I'm simply irresistible." All this put together, plus the revealing mini skirts and the drunken dusk-till-dawn romps in London's most glamorous bars, and we have an almost perfect rendition of the life of the former glamor model and successful British socialite Jordan. Real name Katie Price, Jordan didn't hesitate to go for the ultra-plastic, American Barbie-style look and - by combining shameless self-promotion with her outrageously in-your-face looks - managed to amass a much-envied multi-million pounds empire. However, those were the good old days for the model, who is now apparently trying to go for a brunette, more refined look - which shows that even successful glamor models eventually decide to hang their boobs and start sporting the Michael Jackson look. All jokes put aside, it has long been speculated that Jordan - or Katie, as she insists to be called these days - has developed something of an addiction to plastic surgery. These claims seem to be confirmed by the fact that the model has been undergoing an increasing number of procedures lately, and has not only taken out her ridiculously large breast implants, but also boasted a nose job and some other "work" done to her increasingly shrinking body. Judging by the latest shots, Jordan doesn't only look like she's shrinking, she also appears gaunt and care-worn, not to mention slightly brittle - like you'd expect her to break from the slightest amount of strain put on her. Dressed casually in a yellow T-shirt and bright blue sweatpants, the former bubbly model - who enjoyed boasting her role as mother, writer and entrepreneur in various fields - looked anything but happy and bubbly. She was accompanied by her husband, one-time successful pop singer Peter Andre, and looked hardly recognizable as her old self. Despite the oversize glasses which hid most of her face, it was easy to see Jordan didn't look too comfortable in her new skin. Perhaps the past year has been hard on her - or perhaps she is still not satisfied with her looks. The model announced she would be undergoing a further breast reduction as soon as possible. Stay tuned and we'll keep you up to date on the latest news.
