Jordan's smile and her boobs are not going to get her out of this one.

Jordan Thinks Her Newborn Daughter Is Ugly

The mother of three thinks all her children were ugly after she gave birth to them

It's been only five days since Katie Price (aka Jordan) gave birth to her third child. But good things can never last long, even for newborn babies. I pray to God that, years from now, Jordan's daughter does not read somewhere that her mother thought she was an ugly baby. Because that's exactly what that dimwit true dumb blond did. All you parents out there, you should really be the judges of what this British glamour model is thinking about not just related to her babies, but to all the newborns in the world, including yours. She thinks that all newborns are UGLY and that they look like little old men. They must be a couple of weeks old before they become more pleasant to look at. Jordan thinks back when Junior - her youngest son - was born, people liked his big nose, while she thought it was so ugly. In her opinion, there are very few babies that are beautiful from the get go. However, Jordan thinks way better of Junior now, by claiming that he is simply gorgeous. She said all these things to the "OK! Magazine" that visited her in the hospital, so I'm not making this up. She also mentioned that she wants to take some time off...but I don't really give a damn about anything else after that first jaw dropping statement. All you normal people out there, please tell me, what parent can say that his/her child is ugly? Especially when it is only 5 days old. Jordan's newborn daughter should be the most precious thing in the world for her, and yet she says that the baby is ugly. And even if by some sick twist of fate a child would be born with such a condition that will render him to be (let's use Jordan's view on this and say) ugly, which I hope it never happens, the parents should never ever think that about their baby. Because that's exactly what Jordan has just done. Jordan needs to realize that she cannot say whatever she thinks to the media. She is probably yearning to be back in the spotlight and just said this for the attention. Because I refuse to believe that a person can be so "mentally challenged". Such a person does not deserve to have children.
