

By ~~Federica Zoffa~~ Federica Zoffa, Entertainment News Editor

Justin Cheats on Jessica with Kate Hudson?

You can never trust teenagers...

Do you think Justin Timberlake is sexy? No, no - it's not rhetorical. We were just discussing the matter here in the office, in view of the fact that the former Micky Mouse alumni and Britney Spears' former heartthrob has been in the news a lot over the past months not so much for his musical prowess (which he proved a thousand times already) but for his rather agitated love life. So I started asking myself, what's the deal with Justin Timberlake - why are all these ladies making such a big fuss of dating him? No, don't get me wrong - I'm not calling him un-sexy or something - I'm simply saying that I always had this image of Justin being one of those men who never seem to grow up, and who will always be dating fifteen year-old cheerleaders. Well, that's a silly thing to believe, right - and what's more, there are plenty of ladies out there who believe going out with Justin is the ultimate dating experience. So, what's the deal with Justin? Well, some of my female friends here at work find him very sexy in a teenage, very immature sort of way. I wouldn't kick him out of bed myself, to be honest - but in most of us, I was surprised to find out that he brings out the maternal side rather than the downright sexual one. The guys, however - straight guys, that is - and a few of the girls find him un-sexy, emaciated and childish. And that's about it. Justin is currently dating Jessica Biel, whom I find incredibly hot, and therefore I'm always surprised to see that most people act as if Jessica is lucky to have Justin, and not the other way around. Trouble is, Justin seems to be quite the womanizer, and can't keep his hands off other gorgeous ladies out there. And apparently, he cheated on Jessica with none other than Kate Hudson. Oh, the betrayal...Star magazine broke the story, and they quote an alleged eye-witness who claims to have seen Justin and Kate kissing during a night out at Hollywood club Villa on January 11th. "They seemed to be so into each other", says the witness. Justin was "full-on kissing her. They barely came up for air!". Conveniently, Jessica was out of country at the time, working on her new movie, a romantic comedy called "Easy Virtue". Anyone else feels the irony in that? The fact is, we don't know for sure if Justin cheated on Jessica, but the fact is, when he found out his girlfriend knew about the alleged fling and was furious with him, he did jump straight onto a plane and came to see her in England. Which makes him either very loving, or very guilty. You never know, I guess...