Kids Content Available on Mobiles

New mobile service available for children

Kids also need mobile devices to communicate with their families and friends. Fortunately, a mobile communication company thought about the social importance of the mobile for kids, but also about new ways of entertaining them directly on their mobile phones. A strategic partnership was created in this regard to assure an efficient way of providing funny and also educative content for the little ones. Kajeet is the new provider of the cell phone that is created from the children point of view. The company has signed a partnership with Nickelodeon for a better satisfactory program for the children. Nickelodeon is practically going to offer a wide variety of entertainment to kids. The mobile owners are going to be able to download wallpapers, ringtones, videos and all type of material that can be both educative and entertaining. "More than one in four U.S. tweens own a cell phone, and that number is expected to double in the next three years. Like Nickelodeon, kajeet is totally kid-centric and was created to bring together the world of communication, information and entertainment that today's technologically-agile kids want in the palms of their hands," said Daniel Neal, kajeet Founder and CEO. Not only kids are expected to access the entertaining content but also their families that are surely going to check on the downloaded data. SpongeBob friends, The Fairly OddParents fans and the fanatics of The Adventures of Jimmy neutron will all be pleased to find out that they will be able to watch their favorite straight on the mobile device. Regarding the kid's social needs, Kajeet offers complete services that are going to allow kids to use text messaging, pictures, and also instant messaging. So the communication with the families will be possible no matter the time and situation, especially emergency ones.
