

15 September 2005

By: Entertainment News Staff, -

Kate Moss To Be The Guest Editor For French Vogue

Supermodel Kate Moss has been signed up as guest editor for the famous fashion magazine.

The 31-year-old supermodel has signed up to edit the December/January issue of the French Vogue. Kate Moss is also said to appear in the glossy style bible together with her controversial lover Pete Doherty. The famous couple has recently recorded a duet titled Beauty and The Beast, which will be released as a free CD with the Vogue issue. "They recorded La Belle Et La Bete last week and it's all systems go to be given away with the magazine issue she's going to edit", said a friend of the famous couple. Apparently, "The fashion world has been waiting for Kate and Pete to do something together. Finally she agreed to do a deal with Vogue", the source added. "Kate is obviously already an established fashion icon. But her profile has risen massively since she started going out with Pete this year. Pete is worshipped by certain clothes designers who think he is one of the coolest men on the planet."