

9 November 2007

By: Monica Gaza, Entertainment News Editor

This is just a preview of what is to come

Kim Kardashian's Sex Tape Is BACK, Better Than Ever

Hold on to your pants, everybody, here's Kim!

Well, I must say, this is the best news this week...no, scratch that, the best news this month! At a time when the only celebrity action that may pass as porn is Britney Spears flashing her vagina and changing clothes with barmaids in random clubs, it's a huge breath of fresh air to learn that we're in for some classy (or at least some classier) action. Kim Kardashian's sex tape (which someone very brightly called "Kim Kardashian Superstar") will get revamped and apparently the Kim Kardashian Superstar Part 2 will contain a totally new bed of goodies. Vivid Entertainment announced that they will be releasing a new, uncut and uncensored version of the sex tape that made Hollywood socialite Kim Kardashian famous among the adult community (and not only, I suspect) around the world. This is what the announcement that the people at Vivid put out - and it's bound to make us all veeery curious. "The uncut version of Kim Kardashian Superstar runs over 100 minutes and features over an hour of never-before-seen footage" they say. Well, if they say so...I can only say that the good news seem to keep coming and coming. A trailer on their site (which you can watch HERE - it's obviously NSFW) promises added sex scenes and candid footage of Hollywood socialite Kardashian and her then-boyfriend, ex-child actor and hip-hop artist Ray J. The revamped website also includes a scandalous voice mail message from Kim to Ray J recorded just after Kardashian found out about the release of the sex tape. It's kind of a big coincidence that all this is happening immediately after the December issue of Playboy (featuring our darling Kim) came out. And yes, for someone with a sex tape out, Kim does seem a little too eager to take off her clothes again. However, the new Kim tape promises to be a real treat - and I'm sure many of you would like to find a copy of it in their Christmas stalking. We'll definitely keep you up to date with any Kim news - and I really hope what's coming next will be even better news than the ones today. Nothing like a piece of Kim to keep the fire burning!