Lenny Kravitz Launches His Own Fashion Label

The famous singer wants another "creative outlet"

Lenny Kravitz, who enjoys his success as an interior designer, is also said to be launching his own fashion label soon. The famous singer wants another "creative outlet". "I'm working on a fashion house and home line. I've just kind of been laying back. Now is the time for me to do it. It's more of a lifestyle brand. It's something that's just another outlet for me", Lenny said. "I'm not doing it to slap my name on things and sell them Yes, it's about business, but for me, it's a really creative outlet", he added. The 40-year-old singer has also used his celebrity status to impose a smoking ban in London nightclub called Kabaret's Prophecy earlier this year, as he was trying to protect his voice. Kravitz showcases his latest disc, "Baptism," tonight while opening for Aerosmith at the Borgata in Atlantic City. "I'm at a really great place in my life. (...) I made peace with myself. I feel great. The band is on fire. We're coming out to celebrate with the people. We're coming out to exchange energy and have a great time. (...) I've accepted myself. I accept who I am. I've had issues with myself, but I'm all right with myself now", the singer has declared in a recent interview, according to app.com
