Teenage actress Lindsay Lohan recently confessed at a movie premiere that she's mad about actress Angelina Jolie. Lohan, 19, told reporters that she was so excited to meet Angelina that she ran up to her on the red carpet to see her and get some advices from Jolie. She said: "I'm infatuated with Angelina. I ran up to her on the red carpet. The more advice I can get from these successful women the better." Eventually, I'd like to be involved with some of the things Angelina's involved with. "Lindsay also declared that she admires Angelina for being so sexy and yet so kind to people, trying to help and support everybody. She is quoted on the Fashion Monitor Toronto website as saying: "I think she's one of those rare people who gives back as much as she does not because of the press or because of any kind of attention she gets, but because it makes her feel better. And she's sexy as hell."
