

11 July 2006

By: Elena Gorgan, Entertainment News Editor

Lindsay Lohan Knows How to Cure Acne

By daily using Proactiv products

Lindsay, coming close on Jessica Simpson, Kelly Clarkson and many other young artists, has become the new face for the supposedly miraculous anti-acne treatment. Besides her many freckles, the actress is known for her past skin problems for which, surprisingly enough, the media left her alone. Now, that she signed the estimated $2 million contract, she already filmed the infomercial and, we must say, she seems pretty convinced that it really works. Or maybe she already used it and she knows for a fact that it does. 'My skin, thanks to Proactiv, is clear all the time. Proactive heals acne, but the best thing is that it's super gentle, so it works every day like skin care. That's how I use it and it works'. If you aren't already convinced by Lindsay's speech, stay tuned this week as the infomercial will start airing on MTV, MTV2, E! and Style.