Medal of Honor: Airborne launches September 4, 2007. Yup, that's today!

If you were wondering if there were any big games left to hit the market by the end of this year, well... there are. Lots of them actually and for that, we've made available the list below, containing nothing but titles launching in September. They're all PC titles so rest assure that their launch dates are pretty solid. Highlighted titles (those you can click on too) are what PC gamers showed the most interest for (just so you can take a faster look at your favourite game's launch date).
