

24 November 2005

By: Cosmin Vasile, Communications News Editor

Motorola RAZR Magenta: Chic and Sleek

Motorola Magenta - a new level of fashion and sophistication

The famed Motorola RAZR is now available in an eye-catching shade of magenta. Taking the coveted RAZR design to a new level of fashion and sophistication, Motorola Magenta boasts advanced technology, superlative design and enticing color while its shocking measurements make it one of the slimmest phones on the market. Rich functionality, performance excellence and design innovation give the user a total sensory experience from photo messaging to hands free connections to superlative metallic finishes. The metal materials and finishes create a smooth, easy-to-use phone that has real visual impact. Like its predecessors, this new mobile features advanced technology such as photo messaging and Bluetooth wireless technology. Also, like the original model, it features a VGA digital camera, picture caller ID, MPEG4 video playback and quad-band world-phone technology. The VGA camera's effective 4 x digital zoom and quick exposure controls deliver excellent results and can capture the world in style. The Motorola RAZR Magenta is available beginning Friday, November 25 at T-Mobile retail stores.