

3 February 2007

By: Elena Gorgan, Entertainment News Editor

Mariah Carey Calls Eminem's Bluff: We Did Not Have Sex!

She's still waiting for that letter of apology, though.

I guess you all found out that Mariah Carey is on the cover of the latest 'Playboy' issue. You also learned by now that, unfortunately, she is not baring that much skin in the photo and, if you didn't by now, you can see it here. Sadness all over the world... In the interview published in the pages of the popular men's magazine, Mariah talks a bit about herself. And, if many would have preferred her naked or semi-naked instead of so talkative, there still are some interesting things that she addresses, which should by no means be disregarded. One of them is the rumored relationship she and rapper Eminem had a while ago. In November, Eminem cast away his discretion and his usual reticence when it comes to his personal life, and started acting like any other normal celebrity, namely he began bragging about how many famous women he was lucky enough to bang. Said interview also included references as to how many times, for how long he had sex with these ladies, along with many of his useful tips. After singling out Britney Spears and Tara Reid as two of the most known women he had sex with, Eminem went on to say that he also had a long relationship (by his standards) with the diva or R&B, Mariah Carey. At the same time, he took the opportunity to point that something must definitely be wrong with her, since she so vehemently denied the love affair ever existed. 'Yes, me and Mariah did have a relationship for about a good six, seven months. But it didn't work. I wasn't really into what she was into; our personalities collided. She's a diva and I'm a little more regular, I guess', the rapper explained. 'I can never deny her talent, but the fact that she denied we ever had something, that's bad', he added towards the end of the interview, immediately after referring to Mimi by two of his favorite names, 'bitch' and 'ct'. Months later, Mariah also uses the wonderful opportunity 'Playboy' presented to her to disclose a few things about Eminem's obviously troubled mind. The diva claims that he is obsessed with her and that is why he just wouldn't keep quiet about an affair that only took place in his delusional mind. 'Something is clearly askew with him and I'm not quite sure what it is. I just heard something else he recently said about me. I'm curious as to why he's so obsessed with me.', the singer tells the mag. Looks like Mimi thinks she's got her own personal celebrity stalker. However, she is still waiting for Eminem's letter of apology, in which he would have to do his best to show how sorry he is for telling the world he banged her. 'I never got an apology letter, by the way. ... Then, again, I wasn't exactly searching my mailbox for it.', Mariah adds. Can anyone else say 'back to high school' with me?