

22 July 2005

By:

Mike Tyson In Adult Movies

Controversial boxer Mike Tyson declared in a recent interview that he's been thinking of going into adult movie business.

Controversial boxer Mike Tyson declared in a recent interview that he's thinking of going into adult movie business. According to Boxingtalk.com, Tyson stated: "I've talked to some people, I just talked to a gentleman named Jimmy, whose involved with Club Jenna, you know Jenna Jameson," said Tyson. "They said they were interested in getting me involved in that kind of business as well." "Yeah, the adult film industry" added Tyson. Michael Gerard Tyson, born June 30, 1966, New York City, USA is a former professional boxer and World Heavyweight Champion, and is considered one of greatest heavyweight boxers of all time. While in his prime, he routinely defeated prominent opponents in devastating fashion and was once one of the most feared boxers. His once immensely promising career was undermined by serious personal problems, lack of preparation and two periods of imprisonment. Upon release, he attempted a comeback but failed to win any bouts against any noteworthy opponents. Finally on June 11, 2005, Tyson fought his last bout suffering a defeat to journeyman Kevin McBride and decided to retire from boxing permanently. In August 2003, after years of financial struggles, Tyson finally filed for bankruptcy. His bank balance was said have been only $5,000. Amid all his economic troubles, he was named by Ring Magazine at number 16 among all time best hitters in boxing history in 2003. Tyson is paying his bills by promoting web sites and companies. In April 2005, he joined a group of strippers on the roof of strip club Scores West in New York City to promote skill gaming site FortuneFun.com. Tyson has also endorsed online casino Casino Fortune and previously lent his name to a popular Nintendo game, Mike Tyson's Punch Out!!.