Natalie Portman in the Full Monty

The beautiful actress will bare it all for 'Goya's Ghosts'

Apparently decided to move from the child-like image the character of Princess Amidala from 'Star Wars' created, Natalie is rumored to strip off all her clothes in a scene from the upcoming movie about the life of the famous Spanish painter. Portman will play Goya's muse, Ines, who eventually is investigated by the Inquisition, labeled a heretic and tortured by being stripped naked. The actress had other opportunities of showing her gorgeous body in other films, 'Closer' being probably the best known. In it, Natalie had a nude scene that she begged to be taken off or, at least, edited. The director obeyed and the only thing left from the steamy scene was that in which the actress danced wearing only thongs. When asked about the reasons that led to this decision, the actress said, quote, 'I don't do it in order to prove something. I just go on with my life and do what feels right'. Well, if going naked on the big screen feels right for her, it certainly feels absolutely good for all her male fans. And yet, a bitter disappointment might await them as rumor has it that the director of 'Goya's Ghosts' plans to use a body double for the torture scene. I guess we'll just have to wait and see...
