New Bra Increases the Breasts by Two Sizes

Using DCT technology

Breasts are part of a woman's femininity. But genes are not the same for all women. And if a woman is not satisfied by the way her breasts look, but cannot undergo surgery, here comes an innovating solution brought by the Spanish Teleno Moda Intima company. It is a miracle bra that increases by two cups the size of the bra. It is called Aumentax (from Spanish "aumentar" to increase) and it raises and centers the breasts, increasing their size by two cups and creating a beautiful low neckline. The new bra costs between 44 and 48 Euro ($70-75), depending on whether the model is simple or embroidered, being available in white and black variants. There are even 2 special models for brides. The Aumentax is the result of a five-year research and, unlike the wonderbra, this is the first bra to use the DCT (Double Cup Technology), which manages to center and raise the breasts in a natural and sexy way at the same time. "Any woman desires an impressive neckline. We have found the ideal formula, which does not affect your health nor oblige you to appeal to the scalpel for having large breasts. Many clients either do not have the money for cosmetic surgery or they are afraid of them. Aumentax helps women look good even if nature has not been generous with them," said Maria Fernandez, from the producing company. The commercial slogan of Aumentax is "Dos tallas max guapa" (two sizes more beautiful). And it has been working, as over 50,000 units were sold only in the first month after the product was launched on the market. "The most curious thing is that the most solicited cup number was 100, which already means pretty voluminous breasts, which, with the help of Aumentax, go to a cup of 110," added Fernandez.
