

13 July 2005

By:

Nicole Kidman Blames Tom Cruise For Loosing Her friends

Nicole Kidman confessed she lost all of her friends during the marriage with actor Tom Cruise, because their relationship was to private.

Nicole Kidman confessed she lost all her friends during the marriage with actor Tom Cruise, because their relationship was too private. Kidman was only 21 when she married Cruise, so she changed her lifestyle adapting to Tom's life. IMDb reports that she told Glamour magazine: "Part of me shut down, put up barriers and became very insular. It was very hard to keep friendships alive during that period." Kidman said that, after the divorce, she became more accessible regarding the relations with her close friends. "I've been able to keep my female friendships ongoing, which is so important. Recently, I went on a publicity tour and asked one of my oldest girlfriends to come along. Being together was like going back to when we were teenagers."