

11 March 2008

By: Florin Troaca, Communications News Editor

Discover the Soul of the Night with Nokia N82
Nokia

Nokia: Think You Know Your City at Night?

Try to discover it with Nokia N82

Nokia initiated a new wireless adventure in South and South-East Asia, coming with the release of its latest Nseries phone, Nokia N82. Described as an one-of-a-kind "new-age tech challenge", the adventure is called Discover the Soul of the Night and invites users to discover their cities at night using the powerful features of Nokia N82. Participants will navigate through their city's streets, receiving clues that can help them discover various landmarks like night clubs, cafes, restaurants, art venues and so on. They will have to take pictures (with N82's photo camera, of course) and instantly upload and share them on the Web via Nseries Mblog.

The final purpose of the adventure is to capture the Soul of the Night in each participant city and reveal it to the whole world. Besides the fun that all users will get, Nokia offers daily prizes for the best photos. Moreover, the finalists have the chance to win trips to famous cities around the world (Las Vegas, for example), so the whole experience is definitely worth it.

Nokia N82, the latest launched handset from the high-end Nseries family, is a multimedia computer that packs a wide range of excellent features, including a 5 Megapixel camera with xenon flash and auto focus, built-in GPS receiver, Wi-Fi and advanced Internet capabilities, hence being perfect for the new challenge initiated by the Finnish company.

The Nseries Discover the Soul of the Night adventure is addressed to users from India, Malaysia, Philippines, Indonesia, Singapore, Thailand, Vietnam and Australia. To participate in the challenge, visit the Soul of the Night website, found at this address. Even if you're not from the countries listed above, you can still check out the page, as it's full of interesting pics made with Nokia N82.