Pamela Anderson is angry about the pictures published by FHM on their magazine and refuses to do another photo shoot for the man's tabloid.

Pamela Anderson is angry about the pictures published by FHM in their magazine and refuses to do another photo session for them. Pamela is furious that the editors chose "lifeless, yucky photos" of her beside the caption. "My breasts are props", says the beautiful actress. Anderson is now threatening the magazine to never pose for them ever again. She complains, "I can't believe they picked those awful, lifeless, yucky photos of me. Needless to say that's my last FHM cover. Unless they want to make it up to me."
