

14 September 2005

By: Entertainment News Staff, -

Pamela Anderson Battles Over The Sex Tape With Bret Michaels

Pamela Anderson once again reunites with her ex-lover, Poison frontman Bret Michaels, in the battle against a company who wants to distribute a sex tape with them.

Pamela Anderson once again reunites with her ex-lover, Poison frontman Bret Michaels, in the battle against a company who wants to distribute a sex tape with them, recorded a few years ago. Pamela, 38, and Bret, 42, had sued a few years ago a company who was trying to release the video tape on the market, and won the multimillion-dollar lawsuit, managing to get a federal injunction over the sex movie. Michaels fumes, "Instead of The Neverending Story, it's like The Neverending Porn Tape...The latest company attempting to distribute the video) basically told me and Pamela to screw off. I keep telling them, 'You guys are going to lose, and you're going to pay our legal bills. You're just going to end up paying us a bunch of money, and the more you sell, it's just going to be even worse for you'", Michael added. "But since our settlement, we usually we do a cease and desist, and most of them go away."