Right! According to the report, gamers can instantly purchase and unlock the full Peggle Deluxe via credit card or PayPal for USD19.95, right after they've given the free trial a go. "This free online version of Peggle is a great new way for anyone to get their Peggle fix," explained Sukhbir Sidhu, producer for Peggle. "With nearly random placement of the pegs on each level of the game, and the large number of level layouts, the 20 newly-created levels and five challenges in the basic version can be played hundreds, even thousands of times without becoming repetitive." Well, as PopCap has confirmed, the game pits players against themselves to beat their own cumulative high score over the course of ten randomly selected levels (out of 20 all-new levels).
