Midway brings new missions, battle and stunt modes in Los Angeles

Midway has revealed the first details on Rush for the PSP, the latest in its cruising game series and the first for Sony PlayStation Portable. PSP "Rush" will include a story mode set in the City of Angels, and more than 50 cars. Rush will also include some extras, including 30 new cruise missions, a hip-hop and rock soundtrack with new tracks from Lil' Kim and Twista, and the ability to play any cruise mission with another player by way of the PSP's Wi-Fi capabilities. Also featured on the PSP Rush will be the stunt arena and the battle race modes. The battle mode will let players go head-to-head with each other in a power-up-propelled race to the finish, while the stunt arena calls upon players to launch their cars off ramps and "fly" through the air while performing various twists and turns before landing on all four wheels.
