First news of future release of the Samsung i620 smartphone

Samsung i620 has been spotted on the "Coming Soon" page of the Vodafone UK website. It is now clear that there is little wait left until the elegant smartphone is available in this country. People living in the UK might be the first ones to get their hands on the Samsung i620 mobile phone. Moreover, the Vodafone website allows them to sign up for an email notification the moment the smartphone is available for purchase. Samsung i620 has been announced for some time now for a future launch. Still, no words or further information have sprung since then. The fashion slider smartphone manages to provide an appealing design suitable for a large audience and bring evolved performances too. Even more, its sizes are capable of competing with those of regular mobile phones too, as it measures 113 x 59 x 11.8 mm and merely weighs 95 grams. That's a highly impressive thinness, especially coming from a slider smartphone and is surely bound to make it stand out. The handset comes with HSDPA/EDGE/GPRS data connection, which will manage to provide large data transfer speeds. Samsung i620 works on Windows Mobile 6 Standard, one of the most evolved supports for smartphones. Connectivity is available through Bluetooth and WiFi and there is also a microSD card slot included in order to make sure that the user does not have to cram its data on the internal memory space. The phone also packs a 2 megapixel camera, capable of average performances and a secondary VGA one for placing video calls. Samsung has not revealed anything about this smartphone, but we can clearly see that the i620 phone model will be available at Vodafone UK in the near future in at least two colors: black and white. No words until now on the price that the handset will come at.
