

By: April 2008, Entertainment News Editor

Sienna Miller Flashes Again

Just one day after exposing her breasts full-on, Sienna is keen to delight the world with another close view of her most intimate parts

Sienna Miller definitely needs to make some major changes in her life as soon as possible. The sexy British exhibitionist, who has long and rich history of flashing various private body parts on camera, has done it again. Only yesterday, Miller - who is currently spending her holidays to the States with her boyfriend Rhys Ifans - somehow managed to lose her bikini top while enjoying a dip in the ocean, and showed the world the full extent of charms by exposing her breasts full-on to the eagerly-awaiting paparazzi. And since Sienna seems to really enjoy hitting the waves, there's a good chance her outrageous flashes and slips will haunt her American holiday, and we'll have to put up with seeing a fresh photo of her breasts (at least) ever day. However, boob-flashing doesn't seem to satisfy Sienna's taste for exhibitionism these days. So what does the veteran nude poser do? Well, the next best thing to boob flashing - giving the world a glimpse of what she's made of - showing her dim vagina in a historical pose that, many years from now, may very well be referred to as "the mother of all wet camel toes". This little adventure happened once again as the actress was frolicking around in the ocean, sporting - yet again - a strapless bikini top similar to the one she has inadvertently "lost" and a rather mismatched pair of white bikini bottoms, the kind that turn see-through when wet. You can pretty much envisage where all this is going by now. As Sienna was jumping and fooling around, it was somehow natural that her vagina wanted a taste of the action, and once Miller emerged from the water enough to expose the lower half of her body, the inevitable happened. Perhaps someone should let Sienna know that Britney Spears still lives in the States - in California, actually - and that Americans are pretty much fed up with coochie flashes back from the age when Brit Brit was still reasonably sane, married and partying alongside Paris Hilton. However, a big heads up to Sienna for blissfully ignoring decency and taking turns flashing her breasts on one day and her vagina the next day instead of flashing both private parts together.