

28 October 2005

By: Silviu Stahie, Video and PC Games Editor

The Game Factory Will Develop Cartoon Network Based Games

A great arcade gaming experience.

The Game Factory announced the signing of a major international publishing agreement with Cartoon Network Enterprises to develop, launch and market an exciting new arcade racing videogame for Nintendo DS and Sony Playstation 2 based on the top Cartoon Network original animated series "The Powerpuff Girls", "Cow & Chicken", "Courage, the Cowardly Dog", "I Am Weasel", "Johnny Bravo" and "Dexter's Laboratory". Featuring hours of gameplay depicting characters in a variety of exciting environments, the upcoming videogame will be targeted for wide release across Europe and the U.S. during the 2006 holiday season. The videogame will offer a great arcade gaming experience where players can race their favorite Cartoon Network characters against friends, opponents and new encounters from six top-rated Cartoon Network television series. Among its many state-of-the-art features, an innovative game-design, multiplayer options and an advanced track editor tool will ensure hours and hours of re-play value for every player. All six television series are currently airing on Cartoon Network, several of them among the network's top-rated programs. Furthermore, the videogame will be supported by on-air and off-channel promotions, interactive Web sites, and a broad range of licensing products worldwide. Since the number of Internet threats consisting of viruses, worms, trojans (to mention just a few) is growing day by day, Softpedia gives you the chance to vote for your favorite antivirus application. Vote here for the antivirus which takes care of your security.