

25 July 2006

By: Elena Gorgan, Entertainment News Editor

Tara Reid Still Can't Contain Her Boobs

And the poor child that saw them must have gone blind

The actress is still prowling around Miami's hottest spots and, eventually, this just had to happen. If only a poor little child weren't there to witness it all...Tara Reid, besides getting fatter and uglier with each day, has been up to nothing worth mentioning lately. The 'No job, no problems' saying must work out perfectly for her. Otherwise, we couldn't possibly explain the amount of time spent by the side of the pool, champagne in hand, cigarette in another. But one thing never changes about Tara (besides drinking till flat on her stomach and chain-smoking): the almost permanent wardrobe malfunctions. Remember the one that made her famous when, in a moment of 'carelessness', her dress slipped and revealed her still scarred nipple? Here is another nipple slip from Tara, in close-up. God, those things must have a life of their own! And, parents, beware and never allow your children to play with her, never mind getting in the same pool! Photo Credit: Splash