

14 September 2007

By: Alex Vochin, Technology Editor

The Jingle Jugs Animatronic Singing and Dancing Boobs

One heck of a strange "trophy" to place on one's wall

Turning a woman's image into a sexual object is not a very civilized thing to do at all, but, unfortunately, this is happening all around the world. And while some examples of this situation are rather improper to display, that's not quite the case with Jingle Jugs presented by the people over at BaronBob, a device that replicates a pair of boobs behaving in the strangest possible manner. According to the vendor, the Jingle Jugs are fashioned after a lifelike set of woman's breasts and, when activated, begin to move in rhythmic motion to the song, "Titties & Beer" by Capitol Records success Rodney Carrington (yeah, that's the best song they could have come up with). They can represent a very funny gift for just about any person (as long as we're talking about a man, of course) and would be a very nice addition to one's trophy room, since, let's face it, boobs are among the most prized trophies any man can get his hands on. Even if this whole thing looks rather funny and will surely make everyone laugh when activated, it's by no means a poorly designed or manufactured item. Thus, according to the people over at BaronBob, the Jugs are manufactured with high quality components and provide multiple powering options, including here batteries or an AC adapter. Moreover, the Jingle Jugs can be very easily mounted onto a wall or placed onto a flat surface and also come packed with a motion sensor that, when activated, will respond to any changes occurring in the area around it and will trigger the Jugs. The Jingle Jugs retails for just around 40 US dollars, which is quite an OK price to pay for this very "unusual" device and if you don't trust me, check out the movie below and see what I mean (Warning! Switch speakers ON for full effect!) We are just a few, but there are many of you, Softpedia users, out there. That's why we thought it would be a good idea to create an email address for you to help us a little in finding gadgets we missed. Interesting links are bound to be posted with recognition going mainly to those who submit. The address is .