Motley Crue rocker Tommy Lee is not engaged with actress Pamela Anderson, according to media reports. Lee, invited two days ago on "The Tonight Show", told host Jay Leno that they aren't getting married again. His answer was a definitely "Noooo". Rumors about the third marriage spread into the media after Pamela and Tommy were photographed last month in Hawaii. "I took Pamela and the kids to Hawaii for her birthday. And anytime we get together for any length of time, people are like, 'Oh, they're getting married,'" he said. "You know, we're stuck together forever. We love each other dearly and we have two beautiful kids," Lee told Leno. "But as far as getting married or engaged, I'm not engaged or married." Pamela Anderson married rock star Tommy Lee of the band Mötley Crüe after knowing him for only 96 hours, on February 1995 in Cancun. Anderson filed for divorce twice and reconciled twice, before finally breaking her relationship with Lee. The couple has two boys, Dylan, 7, and Brandon, 10.
