

By: Cajiz @ Cajiz, Games Editor

Try the Xbox 360 Pants!

Prove yourself you're a real fan

One of the must-have accessories for all the Xbox 360 fanboys in the world has finally arrived and it is available for only 18 bucks. We're talking, of course, about the Xbox lounge pants, the only pants that will probably only be appreciated by yourself. Plus, it would be totally unsafe to wear them in the dangerous PS3 hoods, bro! But that doesn't matter for a true fan, right? Jokes aside, the website that sells these pants assures us that these "100% jersey cotton knit lounge pants for men feature Microsoft's XBOX 360 Logos tossed about on a black background. They are machine washable, have an open fly, side pockets and a covered elastic waistband with adjustable drawstring tie." The pants are also imported and they don't say where and that might be a good thing. If they were something made in-house, they would have probably had somewhere the RRoD and a chip in a pocket, which would keep repeating to you with a bored support customer-like voice: "Sorry, can't help you with that". Of course, a true fan would never do something like that but, if you wish, you can check some of the nerd panties we have found out quite a while ago (click here to see the Mario-sensation!). Also, don't forget to give it a shot and win an Xbox 360 chopper (if you live in Australia, that is) in order to have the complete Xbox outfit and drive everybody mad. Oh, have I just said "complete"? You know... there's one more thing you would need to be "complete": the portable Xbox 360! Halo 3 included, as this cool video proves: Now just use your imagination: you'll have the Xbox 360 lounge pants, the Xbox 360 chopper to carry your Xbox 360 portable system... what more could you need? A PS3 tattoo! Ha! Got ya!