

4 October 2006

By: Elena Gorgan, Entertainment News Editor

'Whores of Warcraft' Brings You Porn Fantasy

Oh, wait! This is not fantasy. It's reality.

As we were telling you almost two months ago, porn has found a way to enter the gamosphere, too. And, by the look of it, it will do it 'hardcore', if you catch my drift. Because a bunch of gamers, too hooked up on 'World of Warcraft', decided to do a porno version of it which, nonetheless, has nothing to do with the game, or its producers and which denies being anything else save their attempt to give something back to it. And somebody said: let there be 'Whores' and so it was done. Although the site was supposed to go up weeks ago, this thing happened only these past couple of days. And, for real aficionados, willing to pay $7,95, it also includes the first episode of the spinoff of the game (I guess we can call it that, can't we?), bearing the very inspired and revealing title 'Rogues Do It From Behind'. This first sample of what can happen when a game is transformed into reality more or less, stars Monica Mayhem (being the lady with the belt/top outfit piece) as Rogue and Christian as the Warrior. After fighting for a couple of minutes, and this is where the footage resembles the game, the two rivals start doing it right there, no questions asked and all inhibitions cast aside. Despite the fact that this first episode is for sale and not for free download, word has it that there were so many people interested in purchasing it that the site simply crashed for a couple of hours, due to intensive traffic. If that happened now, just wait to see how things will evolve when the second one, 'Pirate Booty', comes out. It is currently in production and a post on the website says that it will become available pretty soon. If we managed to arouse your curiosity, make sure you click HERE to see images from the shoot and more information on the 'Whores of Warcraft'. And, as a bonus, a direct link to a free PREVIEW for 'Rogues Do It From Behind'. Warning: the preview includes pornographic images and you should not be watching it if you're under 18. Now that we have done our duty, we have only one thing to add: enjoy!