

23 November 2006

By: Iohana Georgescu, Communications News Editor

Verizon's LG Chocolate in Green and Pink

Two colorful versions of the LG chocolate

First it was black, then white, and guess what? Now it comes in Mint and Cherry too.

Verizon recently released green and red versions of the LG Chocolate. These two new colorful versions have been expected since last month, and obviously have the same features as their black and their white brothers. Could it be possible that Verizon is trying to attract a younger more dynamic customer for this phone? Or was there need for some brightness and color in a world of black/blue/gray handsets? Whichever is true, the LG Chocolate is fully-equipped with all features Verizon customers would require, such as V CAST and V CAST Music, a 1.3 megapixel camera, speakerphone, Bluetooth and a microSD card slot that supports the new 2 GB Sandisk cards, enough to fulfill any MP3 collector's dream. In case you insist on having a very colorful, easy-to-spot mobile phone, LG Chocolate in Mint and Cherry can be bought for the same price as the black and the white versions, $129 after a two-year commitment and on-line discount.