

6 June 2006

By: Elena Gorgan, Entertainment News Editor

Victoria Beckham's Secret Talents

Ex-Posh announces that she will sing again

For those who still have doubts, the title is ironic. We all know that former Spice girl always wanted a solo career but couldn't actually manage to sing properly, as she demonstrated to us only a while ago, when she tried to release a solo album and, because it didn't sell, lost the contract and had to pay for it out of her own pocket. This time she joined forces with Will Young, who composed a song that 'will perfectly fit her', because people need 'to give her a second chance'. Well, we'll see about that, won't we? Things just get better and better for Victoria Beckham: recently, she was even offered an award and she must be blowing smoke right at this very moment. Because it's not just a prize, it is the award for first place as THE MOST ANNOYING FOOTBALLER'S WIFE EVER! From the 1,000 women interviewed, almost 46% voted for her, thus placing the diva on top, before Wayne Rooney's fiancée, Coleen McLoughlin, (18%) and Nancy Dell'Olio, who came in third. Maybe she will be more accepted by everyone once she starts singing again... Or not.