

28 February 2008

By: Monica Gaza, Entertainment News Editor

What's next, I wonder?
DailyMail

What Do You Know: Angelina IS Having Twins

I have a feeling we're in for some interesting times

At the rate the rumor mill is spinning right now, I wouldn't be surprised if I learned that Angelina Jolie is actually having quadruplets and that she's going to give birth next month in Irak. So I think the safest thing to say now is that the actress is definitely pregnant, and that's about it. Another persistent rumor, that for me at least looked like it was one of those "I'll believe it when I see it" items, was that Angelina is in fact having twins. And while this would indeed provide a reasonable explanation for Angelina's already burgeoning belly, you have to admit it may very well go under the headline of "wishful thinking". Twins are the latest Hollywood rage, after all. The truly surprising thing is that, if we are to believe the Daily Mail, there will really be double trouble for Angelina.

"Brad's been very quiet about this pregnancy so far but this was the weekend he decided to let the cat out of the bag. He's telling everybody close to him, because he's having to change around his work schedule to get ready for the birth" a family friend stated for the British newspaper. "They're having twins, Angelina is healthy, and he's thrilled that he's going to be a father once again" the insider added. Yes, well, I really hate being such a troll, but I really can't help wondering if Angelina is indeed as "healthy" as she's made out to be. If weight is anything to go by, then the waif-like actress with her ever-shrinking physique doesn't look like she's in any way fit to put up with the strain of a double pregnancy. But I suppose that since she's Angelina Jolie, anything is possible.

"They didn't exactly plan this pregnancy, but they wanted more children and Brad says Angelina was very willing to have them herself" the source said. I know that Angie was once quoted as saying something along the lines of "I believe I'm meant to find my children in the world and not necessarily have them genetically", but it looks like she may have suffered a change of heart, possibly due to the ravishing Mr. Pitt. In case you were wondering whether the ideal dad is actually a myth, you can breathe easy now – such a perfect human being exists, and his name is Brad Pitt. "He's also probably not going to take on a major acting role before the birth either, so he can focus on making sure Angelina is happy, healthy and comfortable", the source added. Stay tuned and we'll keep you up to speed with the latest news.